There are tremendous opportunities and challenges in improving the quality and safety of health care, but the majority require purposeful redesign of health care organizations and processes. Organizations that are committed to high-quality and safe care will not place nurses at the "sharp end" of care, but will focus on system improvements.

Nurses at the "Sharp End" of Patient Care

Active failures are unsafe acts (errors and violations) committed by those at the "sharp end" of the system (e.g. anaesthetists, surgeons, nurses). They are the people whose actions can have immediate adverse consequences. Latent failures are created as the result of decisions taken at the higher echelons of the organisation.
